LAKE COUNTY FOLK BOOM LYONS FOR THE GOVERNORSHIP

Nick Keller, State Representative, Points to Victory in Two Years

Republicans in Lake county have already decided that Richard J. Lyons, Libertyville, will be the standard bearer of the party as the candidate for governor, two years hence, according to the Waukegan Times in its edition of Friday, Nov. 18.

Mr. Lyons, however, has not disclosed his plans from a political standpoint and probably will be governed by developments as to his future political career, says the Times.

Launches Boom

Among the first to boom the former senatorial candidate for the governorship or for any other office that he might seek in the state is Nick Keller, colleague of Mr. Lyons in the general assembly.

In a communication written to Mr. Lyons, Representative Keller complimented him on his splendid campaign for the office of U. S. Senator and stated that he now is deserving of any office that the Republicans of the state of Illinois can give him. He declared that he should be selected to head the ticket for the governorship in the election in 1940 and predicted that the Republicans would sweep the state in that election.

It is understood, however, that political leaders in the state regard Lyons as a formidable candidate for the seat of J. Hamilton Lewis, in the U. S. Senate in the event that the veteran Democrat carries out his intention of resigning from office prior to the 1940 election.

Has Proven Ability

At any rate the Lake county man has by reason of his energetic, determined and effective campaign for U. S. Senator convinced both the leaders and the rank and file of the Republican party in the state that he is deserving of any honor that they might bestow upon him.

He has also proven himself to be of a calibre, politically speaking, to run for any office on the state ticket.

Lyons who is now resting at his home after a year of arduous campaigning has been offered many attractive propositions for his future services, friends say.

Antioch-Owned Dog Wins More Awards

Mrs. Ray Eddy's St. Bernard, Bernardo Kyra v Taubertal, added to her long list of prizes at the dog show held at the Rock River Kennel club, Rockford, Ill., last Thursday when she took awards for the best of breed, winner's bitch, the blue ribbon for class and prize money.

Kyra's sister, Bernardo Priscilla v Taubertal, owned by August Draut, was also shown and placed for reserve winners. She also took the blue ribbon for first place in her class.

The Eddy's niece, ten-year-old Joan Feltier of Antioch, won a ribbon for third place in the children's handling class, in which she showed Priscilla.

Kyra has to date won nine points toward achieving the championship class, and needs only six more to be classed officially as a champion.

County Art League Sponsors Exhibit at Antioch High School

Oils, water colors and etchings are among the pictures on view in an exhibition being sponsored at Antioch Township High school by the Lake County Art league.

All of the pictures are by members of the league. About 30 entries have been listed, and ten exhibitors are taking part.

The display will continue through this week and next and will be open to the public.

National 4-H Congress Set for Nov. 26-Dec. 3

Of interest to many young people of the Antioch area is the announcement that the National 4-H Club congress will be held in Chicago Nov. 26 to Dec. 3, in conjunction with the International Live Stock exposition. Twelve hundred boys and girls from all parts of the United States and from Canada, Hawaii and Puerto Rico are expected to take part in the various 4-H projects at the fair.

McMillen to Headline Charity Wrestling Card In Waukegan H. S. Gym

Jim McMillen, nationally famous in matdom and Lake county's favorite son, will headline a gigantic professional wrestling card sponsored by the Waukegan City club in the interests of charity, which will be staged in the Waukegan High school gymnasium on Tuesday night, December 6.

The big show, according to the promoters, will rival in talent and color such spectacles as are witnessed in the leading metropolitan sporting centers of the country. All of the proceeds over and above the actual expense incurred in the presentation of the extravaganza will go into the Christmas Benefit Fund.

White Is Matchmaker

The services of Les White of Libertyville, who for the past five summers has been successfully promoting wrestling at the Round Lake and Grayslake open-air arenas, have been secured, and he will attempt to bring to Waukegan some of the nation's outstanding heavyweight grapplers.

Already White reports that he has strings out for several top-notch stars and hopes to be able to feature a double main event. Along with Jim McMillen, another star who has attained nation-wide acclaim, Ruffy Silverstein, may be given a top spot at the Waukegan gym.

Savoldi May Appear Here

Still others whom the sponsors are trying to obtain for positions on the card are Fredrick von Schacht, 6 foot 6 inch giant German champion, "Jumpin' Joe Savoldi," ex-Notre Dame all-American, and "Crybaby" George Zaharias, colorful Greek roughster.

The City Club committee which includes Percy Gustafson, Elwin Wightman, Gerald Snyder and Eric Macklin have lost no time in making preparations to accommodate a record breaking crowd at the beautiful High school gym, and report that tickets are on sale at the usual places about the country.

CLUB ENJOYS TALK ON MODERNIZING HOME

Mrs. Teresa F. Leigh Is Speaker at Meeting of Woman's Club

Teresa F. Leigh, Chicago, brought along samples of fabrics and pictures to illustrate her talk on "Expedites for Modernizing the Interior Furnishings of the Home," given before the Antioch Woman's club Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Leigh, a former art committee chairman for the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, gave helpful practical hints on remodeling rooms and furnishings.

Chrysanthemums and other autumn flowers were employed to decorate the home of Mrs. H. H. Grimm for the meeting, which was followed with the serving of light refreshments.

The assisting hostesses were Mmes. Maud Sabin, George Anzinger and Oliver Mathews.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE WILL OPEN HERE THIS WEEK

Arrangements have been practically completed by the board of directors of the Lake County Tuberculosis Association for the approaching Christmas Seal sale. This week the postman will deliver several thousand letters containing the seals throughout Lake county. The money obtained annually in this way is used by the association in its program of control and prevention of tuberculosis.

At last week's meeting of the board of directors Miss Orpha White, executive secretary, presented the following report for the first ten months of 1938: 52 clinics were serviced; 1087 patients were examined, 373 of whom were new patients; 227 tuberculin tests were given; 273 X-rays were taken; 1148 visits, nursing and education, were made into the homes of patients and contacts; 14 meetings were attended in the interest of the association; 3 schools were contacted through talks and films.

The weekly chest clinics are held on Wednesday and Friday mornings, from 8:30 to 11 at St. Therese hospital. Dr. Charles K. Petter is the examining physician. New patients desiring examination are asked to telephone the office, Majestic 1805 for an appointment.

Hits Telephone Pole

Sam Shafer, Waukegan, sustained head and body bruises when he apparently fell asleep while driving alone on the Belvidere road near Gages Lake Sunday, and his car struck a telephone pole.

HANCOCK CASE IS REVIEWED IN MAGAZINE

Article Describes How Persistence Solved 6-Year Old Murder

The six-year search that resulted in capture and conviction of the four men who murdered William Hancock of Antioch in April, 1932, is the subject of a leading article in the December issue of "Dynamic Detective Tales" magazine, just out.

Entitled "Illinois' Case of the Tortured Recluse," the article, written by Peter Kent, describes in detail the arduous steps that led to the tracing of the murderers and their confessions.

It pays tribute to the care with which Sheriff Thomas A. Kennedy, then chief deputy for Lake county, followed each of the meager clues. (A fingerprint on the sill of the pantry window through which the murderers entered the house was the one finally linked up the chain of evidence.)

Aid Search

Bert Dickey, Antioch photographer, supplied one of the strong leads in the case, the article recalls, when he mentioned to sheriff's officers the fact that a Joseph Nemmer from Racine had been employed around Antioch.

From Nemmer's former employer, Vincent Dupre, contractor, formerly a resident of this village, the officers secured further information that helped them trace him to a lodging house in Racine.

The article tells how Nemmer was taken to Waukegan to face questioning on the part of Sheriff Tiffany and State's Attorney Smith, but had to be dismissed when he apparently proved his innocence.

It relates how Kennedy followed up other leads in the case, meanwhile keeping track of Nemmer, and finally succeeded in matching the fingerprint from the windowsill with those of Edward T. Leonard, Racine, in whose garage Nemmer was employed as a mechanic.

Tells of Confession

The dramatic confession that ensued when Leonard was arrested in January of this year after serving a prison sentence on a stolen car charge, and was brought into the Racine police station together with Nemmer, is described. Nemmer and Leonard not only confessed to their part in the crime, but implicated Michael Karapurnos, Racine, and Joseph Russo, Chicago, formerly of Racine, as their accomplices.

The opening of the article is devoted to a review of the discovery of the crime, by Mrs. Lillian McCann, a neighbor of Hancock, and T. M. Palaske, manager of the Antioch Fuel and Ice company on April 13, 1932.

The writer goes on to sketch, step by step, the solving of the crime. The deed had been planned by the four men as a robbery, inspired by rumors of considerable wealth hoarded by Hancock in the home. In actual fact, the article points out, the loot amounted only to a few dollars, as Hancock's savings were kept in a bank safety deposit box, but the plot led to a crime that attracted nation wide attention.

All four of the men who took part in it are now doing prison sentences. A fifth member of their group, Jerome Welsch, Racine, who figured out details of their plans but admittedly was not at the scene of the crime, refused to waive extradition and was not tried in this state.

Rasmussen Services Are Held at Park Ridge, Ill.

Funeral services for Mrs. Frank Rasmussen (nee Alma Mork) were held at the Porter Undertaking parlor in Park Ridge Saturday afternoon with burial in the Ridgewood cemetery.

Mrs. Rasmussen was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mork of Lake Villa and was married to Mr. Rasmussen twenty years ago. They made their home at Park Ridge and on a farm they purchased two miles south of Wilmot in Randall township. For the past few years Mrs. Rasmussen has been in very poor health and her death occurred on Wednesday evening, November 16.

The deceased is survived by her husband, her parents, a son, Clifford Rasmussen, of Wilmot, and a daughter, Nancy Phyllis Rasmussen, at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilton and sons, Bobbie and Bille will be the guests of Mrs. Carrie Wilton for Thanksgiving dinner.

Spirit of Thanksgiving Is Still the Same

America still has much to be thankful for. First and foremost is the priceless heritage of liberty. With oppression and injustice seeming to run rampant in many parts of the world today, it is indeed cause for thanksgiving that America today still upholds the ideals of democracy, and justice for all.

It is heartening to know that in the face of adversity Americans can co-operate to work for the common good; that the nation can face present hardships as bravely as the pioneers faced those early days.

There is cause for thanksgiving in the fact that busy men and women can still find time to give thought for the welfare of the crippled, the ill and needy, and the orphaned child.

America can be thankful that out of her abundance she still can feed and care for her people; that her country, in a war-torn world, is one of peace; that her people have courage for themselves and friendship for their neighbors.

America has, indeed, at this holiday season, much to be thankful for.

HERE'S FORESIGHT! BOTH PARTIES OPEN 1940 VOTE DRIVES

Leaders Believed Thought Was Exclusive, but Are Due to Be Disillusioned

It seems that there is another election coming in 1940 and the leaders of both the Republican and Democratic parties in Lake county have found out about it.

In other years and other times election campaigns have been deferred until about a month or two before the day on which voters are expected to visit the polls but there is a new order of things.

Stole March on Each Other

This week Democratic leaders in the county met and decided to begin their campaign for votes in Lake county not in September of 1940 but NOW. With equal foresight, it seems, Republican leaders also got together during the past week and decided that a campaign beginning NOW would be far more effective than a whirlwind last minute drive.

Leaders of each of the two parties believed that the plan to begin the drive for 1940 in 1938 was an original and an exclusive thought and they felt that they were stealing a march on the other fellows.

Begin Actual Work

The Republicans were the first to break out with an activity that must be considered as a prelude to an intensive drive for support. They have contacted every newspaper in Lake county to determine their rates, ownership and circulation with the intention of using the press as a part of their drive for votes.

The Democrats working less openly are actually drafting a program of activities to be carried out through the two years which they believe will result in swinging Lake county definitely into the Democratic column from the national, state and county ticket standpoint in November of 1940.

What effect the energetic activities of these two parties will have on the ultimate result can only be determined by time, but at least the citizens of Lake county can expect to be treated to two years of something which was usually dished out to them in but two months in other years—Waukegan Times.

PIONEER GRAYSLAKE MERCHANT, 74, DIES

Fred H. Kuebler Passes Away on Anniversary; Funeral Tomorrow

Fred H. Kuebler, pioneer Grayslake merchant and business man, died Monday at 12:30 a. m., on his seventy-fourth birthday anniversary.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. at the residence in Grayslake and at 2 p. m. in the Grayslake Congregational church.

Mr. Kuebler came to America from Hanover, Germany, in 1878. In 1895 he married Miss Ellen Whitehead and they settled in Grayslake, where Mr. Kuebler went into the mercantile business. He later retired from that business and engaged in the real estate field.

Surviving besides his widow are a brother, Charles Kuebler, and nephews and nieces.

CHIROPRACTIC WILL OPEN OFFICE HERE

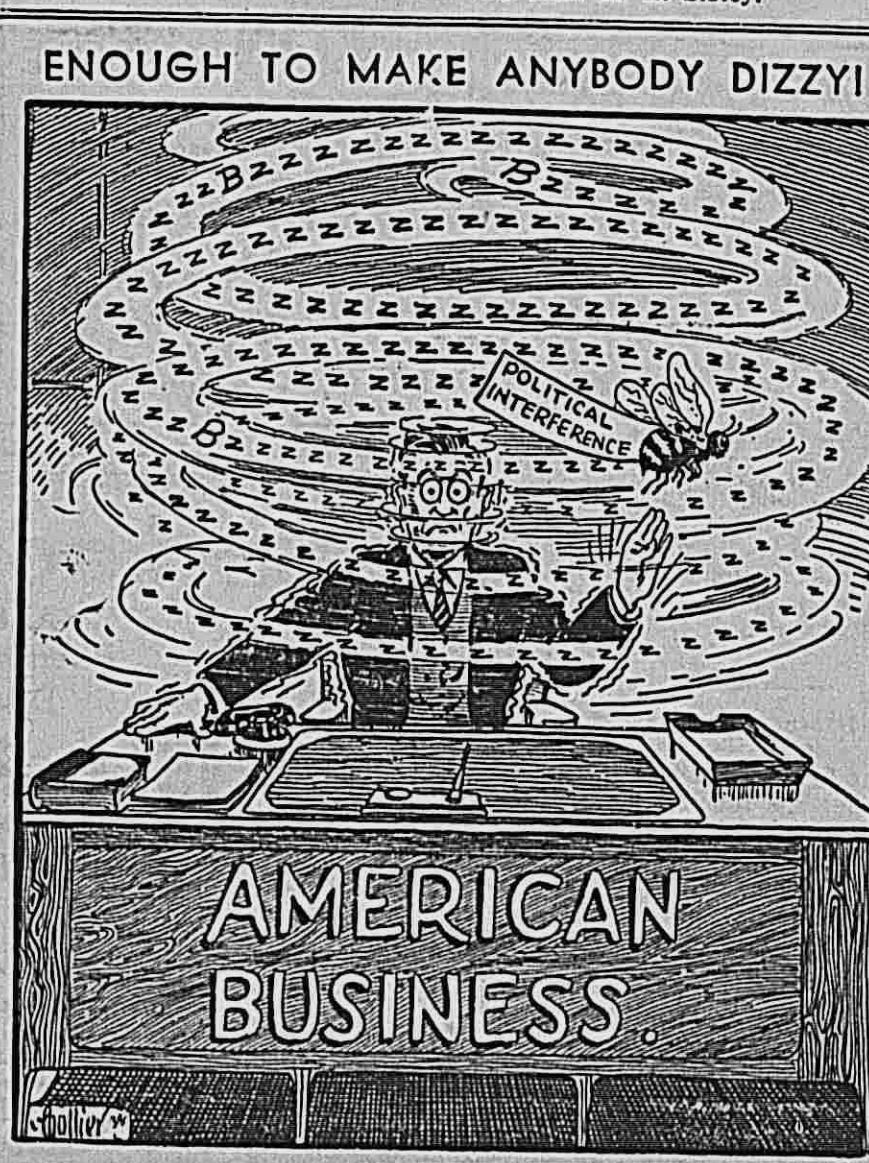

Dr. W. A. Biron, head of the department of Chiropractic at the National College of Chiropractic in Chicago, will open an office here in the King building next week, he announced today.

Besides being professor of Chiropractic in the nationally known college, Dr. Biron has a wide private practice in Chicago with offices located at 3537 W. Madison.

Due to limited time Dr. Biron will be in his Antioch office only three days each week, and he has announced office hours for the present as follows: Tuesday and Wednesday morning from 8 to 10 o'clock, and all day Saturdays.

Reckless Driver

James Panoch, Brookfield, faces charges of reckless driving as a result of an accident in which his car side-swiped one driven by John Yanay, Burlington, Wis., at a curve on a highway just north of Libertyville Sunday.

Grade "A" and Grade "B"

Citizens of the Future

Administration plans to create a two-price system for rich and poor has been denounced in an editorial in William Allen White's Emporia Gazette as a scheme tending to "eat out the guts of the common man."

"The plan sounds benevolent," the Gazette said. "As an emergency measure possibly it is justifiable. But after spending twenty billion dollars why does the emergency hang on?"

"If we Americans set up a permanent two-price schedule in this country, one price for the rich and one price for the poor, we will have two kinds of people, one definitely well-to-do, another definitely poor. A poor man's price sets a poor man in a class-conscious isolation. Whatever physical benefits he has, if he buys on the 'poor' price he has paid in self-respect for his material gains. A poor man's price makes a poor man's spirit!

"If one who has viewed with considerable complacency the objectives of the New Deal may be allowed to criticize it in broad general terms, here is the trouble: In the attempt to aid the under-privileged man, whether unemployed or badly paid in employment, the New Deal has so heavily emphasized the ills, evils and injustices of the poor man's estate that the New Deal has isolated him, made him class-conscious, encouraged whining, and has so produced, insofar as it is possible in an upstanding citizenship, a definite militant proletarian minority. But worse than that, the New Deal, in creating this new class of citizens, has consciously and without intentional malevolence, neglected our Grade A citizens. The man with 10 talents is not always a crook—nor generally. He is no oftener greedy than the poor man with one talent... But our whole government policy, whether we are dealing with farmers, with employers, with industrial workers, with bankers or with professional people, has tried to handicap the Grade A farmers, the Grade A workmen, the Grade A employers, the Grade A professional men, not merely by taxation but by its whole political scheme of social, economic and industrial organization. ***

"It is all right to make that exceptional man toe the line of honesty—and to be mean and not mealy-mouthed about it. But after law defines honesty and establishes penalties for dishonesty, the law should also leave the talented man free. But today the law, cramps and obvious intentions of the New Deal go further than to keep this exceptional man in the paths of rectitude. The law today is trying to beat him down, to make equality by bludgeon blows upon all the heads, honest or dishonest, that rise above the multitude."

Election Thoughts

It is said that the New Deal theme song has been changed from "Happy Days Are Here Again," to "When You and I Were Young, Maggie."

The Latest

Henry Wallace's latest crackpot idea is to establish two prices for the necessities of life, one price for what he terms the poor people—another and higher price for the same articles to what he terms the people better able to pay. And that, dear friends, comes from a cabinet official serving in a country which was founded on the principle that all men are created equal. All those in favor of chipping in on a one-way ticket to send Henry to Russia please form in line on the right.

Now that we have a minimum wage and a maximum hour law, all that we need is 11,000,000 more jobs.

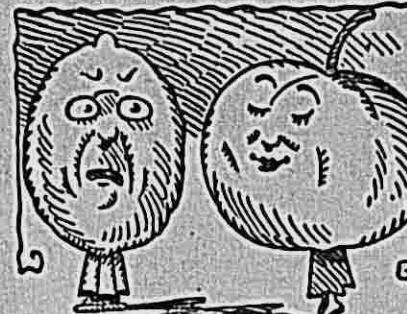

Farm birthrate has declined the past few years. Indicating that farmers are going all the way with the government in crop reduction.

A remarkable fact of the recent congressional election is that no sitting Republican member was defeated. Only Democrats and radicals lost their seats in the national House of Representatives.

The city of Dayton was forced to close its public schools for two months on account of shortage of funds. Isn't there some way to blame this on to the Dies Committee?

This is a free country all right, but too many people are beginning to get the idea that everything in it is free.

Prehistoric Lake Dwellers

Although a historian writing about 400 B. C. mentioned a prehistoric people known as Lake Dwellers, scientists now believe such groups probably existed some 14,000 years ago. Existence of their dwellings has been found in Swiss and other southern European lakes. In Ireland and Scotland remains of the wooden piles and dwelling framework were well preserved.

Sunday School — 10 A. M.
Worship Service — 11 A. M.

December 4th has been designated this year as Homecoming Day. This will be an all-day service with pot luck dinner at noon. A. C. Hewitt, a former pastor here, will be on the program, as well as the District superintendent, A. T. Stephenson. You are invited to be present all day.

Practicing for the Christmas program will begin next week.

The Ladies' Aid thanks all those who helped to make the Turkey dinner a success. They also have a splendid selection of handkerchiefs for your Christmas giving, these may be seen at the home of Mrs. Clas. Hamlin.

The Aid Society met last week at the home of Mrs. Weber and had a very interesting program following the business meeting. Mrs. Ritchey of Antioch gave a talk on "Foods" which was very appropriate to the season. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Bertha Fish and Mrs. Helen Fish on Wednesday afternoon, December 7 and Rev. Allen will give a talk on the Goodwill Industries which he recently visited.

Mrs. Swanson and Mrs. Clas. Hamlin attended a conference for Sunday School teachers at Diamond Lake church last Saturday afternoon.

Carl Seeger has been in Victory Memorial hospital for treatment the past week but expects to come home soon.

Misses Elizabeth Maier and Ruth Miner, who are students at the DeKalb Teachers' College and Misses Jean Culver and Lorraine Hooper, students at U. of Ill., will spend the Thanksgiving holidays with their parents here.

Mrs. Nettie Frazier visited her daughter, Mrs. Griffin, near Antioch Saturday and Sunday and early this week went to Evanston to spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Logan.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Reinebach and Betty will be guests of the Reinebach family in Chicago on Thanksgiving day and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hodgkins, Mrs. Leonard and Edward Leonard and wife will spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Eberle in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mork have the sympathy of the community in the loss of their daughter, Mrs. Rasmussen, who passed away at her home near Genoa, Ill., and whose funeral was held Saturday at Park Ridge, Ill.

Charles Thorn and his wife, Mrs. Irene Blanchard, will spend Thanksgiving day with Mrs. Blanchard's sister, Mrs. Thorsen and family at Winnetka.

The firemen's dance was well attended last Saturday evening and Fred Stahmer was the lucky winner of the big turkey which was the door prize.

Mrs. Carrie M. Kerr of Council Bluffs, Iowa, visited the James Kerr family over Sunday.

Mr. McLaren and daughter, Mrs. Riney, visited Mrs. McLaren at the home of her daughter in Chicago on Saturday. She is recovering nicely and expects to come home soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cragg of Evanston visited Mr. Cragg's aunt, Mr. Louisa Thayer, last Sunday and brought her a beautiful Thanksgiving basket.

Boiled Prisoners to Death
Punishment was once used by boiling prisoners to death both in England and on the continent. The "Chronicles of the Grey Friars" (1852) have an account of boiling for poisoning at Smithfield in the year 1522, the man being fastened to a chain and lowered into boiling water several times until he died. The preamble of the statute of Henry VIII (which made poisoning treason) in 1531, recites that one Richard Roose, a cook, by putting poison in food intended for the household of the bishop of Rochester, and for the poor of the parish of Lambeth, killed a man and woman. He was sentenced for treason and publicly boiled. In 1547 the act was repealed.

Faster Than Horses
Visitors to the towering Mont St. Michel off the coast of northwestern France can reach it by a causeway from the mainland, but when the tide comes in the advancing foam roars in faster than horses can gallop.

Weight of Air
Damp air weighs less than dry air, as the dampness is due to the vapor of water in the air, and vapor of water is lighter than most of the other gases of the atmosphere.

Lesson for November 27

HONESTY IN ALL THINGS

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:15; Matthew 19:10; 45, 46.
GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt not steal.—
Exodus 20:19.

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

Honesty in all things would seem to be what one should have a right to expect without question. As a matter of fact, dishonesty has become so common wherever man is found that people look on the person who is strictly honest as a peculiar individual. Try reporting an undercharge (everyone complains about an overcharge) or returning excess change, and you will see how unexpected honesty really is today. Under such circumstances the Christian needs to be vigilant lest he also accommodate his own ideas of honesty and begin to justify little evasions rather than being absolutely upright.

I. Honesty Respects Property Rights (Exod. 20:15).

The very commandment against stealing implies that men have a right to that which they have made, earned, or saved. If no one had property rights there could be no stealing. Some of our modernisms reason along that line, but their reasoning is clearly not biblical or Christian.

"Thou shall not steal" forbids every kind of theft. It includes robbery, burglary, safe-cracking, housebreaking; but it covers far more than those obvious wrongs. It refers to such things as loafing on one's job, "borrowing" money from the cash drawer, taking goods from the stock with which one is working, stealing another man's sermon and preaching it as one's own, "lifting" material out of another man's book without credit, contracting debts which one can never pay, using false weights and measures, adulterating food or other material, "watering" milk for sale, selling worthless stock, dodging taxes or lying to the tax assessor, using a slug instead of a nickel in the telephone to escape proper payment.

It really means something to be honest, and it is a great testimony to the unregenerate world.

II. Honesty Restores Stolen Goods (Luke 19:1-10).

The story of the conversion of the despised Jewish tax collector Zacchaeus has many interesting features, but for our lesson we stress but one, namely, that the reality of his conversion was demonstrated by his honesty in restoring that which he had obtained unjustly, and that in fourfold measure.

Insofar as it is possible to do so, the honest person will make right any known injustice. To be right with God must mean that we are to be right with men. The testimony of many Christians could be presented to show that they have only entered upon real peace and usefulness as they have made consistent effort to right every wrong, to pay every debt. Often such actions open opportunities for Christian testimony and point others to the redemption in Christ, which makes a man live right as well as talk right.

III. Honesty Resents Crookedness (Luke 19:45, 46).

In sharp contrast to the prompt restitution by Zacchaeus, the converted publican, was the stubborn disobedience and dishonesty of the priests in the temple. Jesus had already cleansed the temple of the traffic in money-changing and the sale of animals for sacrifice practiced there (see John 2:13-17). On that occasion He rebuked them because they made His Father's house "house of merchandise." Had they known the change of heart of a converted Zacchaeus they would have heeded His admonition. But they did not believe in Christ and went on with their ungodly desecration of the temple area until it became "a den of thieves" (v. 46). The Lesson Commentary of the United Lutheran Church makes an unusually apt application of the truth to "the goings on in our own churches" in the following paragraph. Read it, ponder it, pray about it, then act, if it describes your church.

"Is a church honest when it assumes obligations it cannot meet, and is then forced to use all sorts of questionable means to raise money for the benefit of the church? Is a church honest when it turns a building consecrated to the worship of God into a restaurant or a theater, regardless of whether it is done to make money for the church or to attract people who are more interested in eating and drinking or playing than in the preaching of the Word and the worship of God? Is a church honest that turns its pulpit into a lecture platform for the discussion of current events or the review of popular books or plays while the world is destroying itself because it does not know the time of its visitation? The answer is that the church is dishonest that permits any such things, because it robs God of the honor and glory due to Him, and it robs people of their chance of salvation by giving them stones when they need the bread of life."

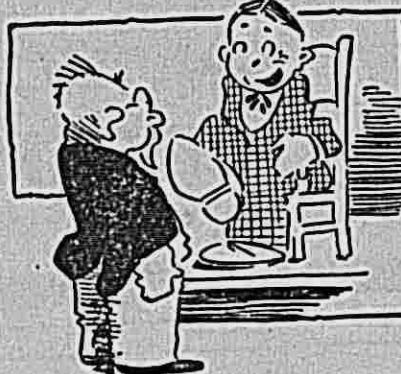

A CHRISTMAS ADVENTURE

Santa Sets Out!

HONK, HONK

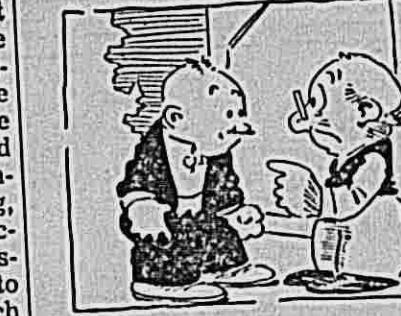

Judge—What was your motive when you ran over that woman?
Motorist—Nothing, your honor, but gasoline!

THAT MODERN BOY

Mother—Mary, is your caller a young man of economical habits?
Mary—Decidedly, mother. He insists that we use but one chair to keep from wearing the furniture and always turns out the light to save electricity.

VERSATILE

"A wonderful actor, you say?"
"Yes, he played Hamlet and played the devil at the same time."

NOT SO GOOD

Returning Native—I'm surprised to hear that Bess is a widow. Has she been a widow long?
Native—Oh, no, but much longer than she expected.

JUDGE AND JURY

Tom—Is stealing a kiss grand larceny or petit larceny?
Jane—In most cases it's just grand!

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, Alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 27.

The Golden Text was, "If God be for us, who can be against us?" (Romans 8:31).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Thus saith the Lord, thy Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel; I am the Lord thy God that teacheth thee by the way that thou shouldest go. O that thou hadst hearkened to my commandments! then had they peace because it is a river, and thy righteousness as the waves of the sea" (Isaiah 48:17, 18).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Animal magnetism has no scientific foundation, for God governs all that is real, harmonious, and eternal, and His power is neither animal nor human. Its basis being a belief in this belief animal, in Science animal magnetism, mesmerism, or hypnotism is a mere negation, possessing either intelligence, power, nor reality, and in sense it is an unreal concept of the so-called mortal mind" (p. 102).

Wauconda, Lake Zurich
Installing Dial Phones

Dial telephones will replace the "central" system in Wauconda and Lake Zurich early in January, according to an announcement by G. L. Wilburn of Woodstock, district manager for the Illinois Bell Telephone company.

The present method of calling central by turning a crank will also be discontinued.

Antioch telephones were recently changed from the old type "crank" style to a modern automatic signal system. Dials were not installed, however, as the "community dial" system such as will be used as Wauconda was not deemed feasible because of the size of the village, and a dial system of the type used in larger cities was also not considered advisable because of the expense.

Our Three Nervous Systems

Man has three nervous systems. The central nervous system, which consists of the brain and its associated fibers that extend to all parts of the body, is particularly associated with the sense organs and muscles. The autonomic and sympathetic nervous systems are associated with the internal organs and processes which operate themselves without aid from the other nervous system. These two systems bear a close relationship to each other as the gas pedal and the brakes on an automobile. Normally these actions balance each other.

The Sin Eater

A sin eater is a person hired to eat the sins of one who has just died. The practice used to be common in England. A piece of bread was placed on the breast of the corpse. This the sin eater devoured and, supposedly, with it, the former occupant's sins. The rite has been known as recently as 1893 in Shropshire in England and is followed in parts of Bavaria and the Balkans.

Two Drivers Aim for Parking Space; 1 Loses

Ever lose out on a race for parking space and want to do something about it? R. L. Holland of Countryside, Mundelein, did last week.

Parking space is frequently at a premium in downtown Waukegan, so when David Grana of Waukegan slipped his car into a place that had also been "spotted" by Holland, the latter, it is alleged, lost his temper and rammed his machine into Grana's, crumpling a fender.

A complaint was to be sworn out by Grana.

The IMPORTANCE of EYESIGHT

Since our eyes are in use while we are awake and from birth to the end of life it behooves us to be sure they are not being further burdened by uncorrected disturbances. Most individuals are of the opinion that because they "see well" as they say, all is well with their eyes. Unfortunately, this is not true and is just another instance of lack of knowledge.

Banker Plays Role of Santa For Prisoners

Distributed Money to Charity Under Name, "Mickey Finn"

Sioux City, Iowa.—A mysterious Santa Claus whose identity was revealed only at his death early in 1937, will be remembered here each Christmas as one of Sioux City's most beloved characters.

His name was Ed T. Kearney, a real estate man and banker who brought Yuletide joy to hundreds with anonymous contributions to inmates of prisons and missions. His gifts were always accompanied by poorly written letters bearing the signature, "Mickey Finn."

A sample of Kearney's unusual letters has been uncovered in the notes written to the sheriff of Cook county, Ill., in 1930:

STAR INSTALLATION ATTENDED BY 125

New Officers Are Instated at Ceremony in Flower-Decked Lodge Room

Large baskets of autumn flowers decorated the Masonic hall for the installation of officers held by Eastern Star chapter 428 Friday evening, with 125 persons attending.

Mrs. Fern Lux acted as installing officer, with Eleanor Michell as marshal and Mrs. Myrtle Klass as chaplain. Robert Wilton was the acting worthy patron.

Acting as escorts were William Anderson, Oscar Hachmeister and Ralph Clabaugh.

E. Pollock, marshal; Mrs. Clara Westlake, warden, William Anderson, color bearer; Miss Clara Halting, Adah; Mrs. Lucille Kutil, Ruth; Mrs. Sophia Hennings, Esther; Mrs. Margaret Dalziel, Martha, and Mrs. Edith Elms, Electa.

A buffet luncheon was served after the installation.

"Land-locked Salmon" Merely Brown Trout?

Efforts to trap and identify the much publicized Landlocked Salmon are being made by Wisconsin state conservation crews at Fontana-on-Geneva lake and in one of the streams there.

The first trap nets were set by Fred Hewitt, superintendent of the Burlington hatchery under the direction of George Sprecher, assistant superintendent of the fish hatchery at Madison and Edward Schneberger, chief biologist.

Due to the accidental trapping of muskrats, which gnawed the nets, these traps were replaced by L. A. Woodbury, junior biologist, and A. A. Oekmcke, of the conservation department, Madison.

About 6,000 eggs have been obtained from some five or six specimens trapped and have been sent to Madison for hatching. The specimens from which the eggs were obtained were also sent to the hatchery for identification.

The new traps are of chicken wire variety and a close study will be made of the specimens caught as many suspect the Lake Geneva "landlocked salmon" are in truth brown trout.

Abbott Laboratories Have Golden Jubilee

The fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Abbott Laboratories, North Chicago, was celebrated with a jubilee banquet last Thursday evening at the Glen Flora Country club, Waukegan. Three hundred and fifty representatives of Waukegan and North Chicago industries and business and professional men attended the event, at which a tribute was paid to Dr. Wallace Calvin Abbott, founder of the laboratories.

Hints for Homemakers By Jane Rogers

Have you tried unsweetened Hawaiian pineapple juice for breakfast? Youngsters as well as husbands like its natural field-fresh flavor, its sunny color and zestful tang. Mothers like it also because they know that fruit juices are important in the diet all year round and natural pineapple juice, pressed from sun-ripened fruit, is a good source of vitamins A, B, C and important mineral elements. It's so easy to serve these busy mornings when lunch boxes must be packed and youngsters hurried off to school. Chill the juice in the refrigerator overnight and to serve, merely slice the can and pour the juice into glasses.

For family use it is practical to buy a large can of unsweetened pineapple juice. The natural sugar content of unsweetened Hawaiian pineapple juice makes this beverage a refreshing pick-me-up for lagging energy. School children as well as adults who are hungry in mid-afternoon will find their energy quickly increased and hunger appeased after drinking a glass of pure pineapple juice. Consumption of fruit juice between meals is preferable to other in-between-snacks because it does not spoil the appetite for luncheon or dinner.

Use Toys to Teach Tots Safety RulesMiniature Cities Set Up in Ohio Playgrounds.

MANSFIELD, OHIO.—Nearly 500 pre-school age children were taught traffic rules during the summer by driving toy automobiles in the streets of miniature cities laid out on playgrounds.

Traffic Patrolman Fred C. Beals of the Mansfield police department and a playground instructor, Betty Braden, supervised the unusual traffic education program.

"The children now have a thorough understanding as to the meaning of the 'stop,' 'caution' and 'go' signals of traffic lights because miniature streets' traffic was regulated by small lights," Beals said.

"Although the children could not read—they were from 4 to 6 years old—they know now the meaning of traffic signals and of white lined pedestrian lines."

He said that he and Mrs. Ruth Robins, a kindergarten expert, devised the system to train the child at an early age in the principles of road safety so that these principles would eventually become automatic with him.

"The program works along the same lines as the beginner in school learns to write," Beals said.

"After it is taught the fundamentals of writing, he practices it until it becomes a thing that is guided by his subconscious mind."

Miniature cities were set up on six Mansfield playgrounds and one on a Shelby (Ohio) playground to carry out the traffic education program. One group of children were the pedestrians and another group drove the toy automobiles.

Beals said that the children who received this traffic training and who entered school this fall know how to cross streets safely on their way to and from school.

Marital Quarrels OverTobacco in Past Shown

WASHINGTON.—Women's use of tobacco may cause marital strife in the Twentieth century, but it was the men's smoking that caused trouble in the Sixteenth century, books on display here reveal.

The collection of 3,500 volumes—some dating back to the Sixteenth century—was owned by George Arnets of New York, whose family has been interested in tobacco commerce and culture for three generations.

Arnets spent years collecting fine copies of all books referring to the need that the Indians taught white men to use.

While men praised tobacco as the "holy herb" and "joyful weed," the women, the collection showed, frowned on the "fume suckers" that threatened marital happiness.

In "Tobacco Tortured," a wife pleaded with her husband to stop smoking.

"Oh, husband, my husband," she wailed, "mine only husband. Consider, I beseech thee, thy deare, thy loving and thy kind-hearted wife . . . Why dost thou so vainly preferre a vanishing filthie fume before my permanent virtues . . . Have not I here brought forth an armie of children unto thee?"

Woman Leads as Trapper Of Predatory Animals

EAGLE PASS, TEXAS.—The record of trapping more mountain lions than any other person employed in the eradication of predatory wild animals by the Texas Predatory Animal Control association during the last fiscal year is held by Mrs. Bessie Kennedy of Eagle Pass. She has for her territory Maverick county, bordering the Rio Grande.

During the last 12 months Mrs. Kennedy has captured eight mountain lions, 154 coyotes, 40 bobcats, and many smaller predatory animals, according to C. R. Landon, district director of the association. She sets and looks after the traps herself.

Her husband also is one of the most successful trappers employed by the association. His work, however, is less difficult than that of his wife, because he is assigned to patrol a woven wire enclosure containing about 6,000 sheep. He captured during the year five mountain lions, 94 coyotes, and 28 bobcats.

California's First Jail Was Vessel, Records Show

SACRAMENTO.—Only historians remember that California's first prison consisted of a ship anchored off Point San Quentin, in San Francisco bay, back in 1852.

Old records in the state house brought this strange fact to light in connection with the early history of San Quentin prison, the penitentiary for first offenders on the north end of the bay.

For five years after the American occupation, California had no fixed penal laws or penal institutions. Local jails were scarce and the large ranches maintained their own adobe guardhouses for their lawbreakers. Cross-road justice from the nearest tree in the early gold days seemed effective and sufficient.

After several years of leasing out prisoners to farmers, the legislature selected a site for a prison in 1852 and a prison ship was anchored until the buildings would be erected. The ship held 30 to 50 men.

Cloque Is Magic Word in FabricsThere's Nothing Smarter for Immediate Wear.

By CHERIE NICHOLAS Let your fashion "first" this fall be a daytime dress of some one or other of the new cloque weaves. There is nothing smarter for immediate wear. Some of the raised designs stand out as if sculptured. For the most part the new cloque frocks are simply fashioned with the intent that fetching costume jewelry be worn with them.

A novelty is a new material called cross-dye cloque. It is woven in two colors so as to give the effect of printed design. For the conservative black foundation gown, select a cloque weave. It will undoubtedly carry a convincing style message no matter how simply the dress is made.

High-Hatting It

Hats are tall. Hats are diminutive. Hats are spectacular. The tall cuff hat shown below in the picture takes on a flattering softness done in golden honey-colored suede. The small crown is dark brown to match the short sleeved bolero of sheared beaver. The towering arrangement of feathers on the hat centered in the trio is typical of a new fashion trend. At the top a high cone-shaped hat interprets a leading trend. Narrow strips of black suede are interwoven to form the whole hat. A wisp of veil softens the lines. Note the stunning gold costume jewelry she wears.

Costume Jewelry Is Rage for Fall

According to the signs of the times we are to wear more costume jewelry than ever this fall and winter. The new jewelry is anything but conservative. The trend is toward massive types. Some of the pins and clips and pendants are enormous. Dangling effects are the newest and apparently leaf design is the favorite motif. Earrings are conspicuously in the picture.

There is also a revival of cameos and such oldtime stones as garnet, amethysts and so on. The new high hardiness calls for fancy combs and the jewelry counters are displaying them in endless variety.

Tie-Girdles and Sashes in Favor

One of the distinctive styling treatments is the use of tie-girdles and sashes and ribbon bow ties for fastenings. You will see this movement throughout costume design. Cloth coats have cravat ties of self fabric or flat fabric-like fur at the neckline. The new streamline full blouses have self ties at throat and at waistline.

Evening gowns display novel sashes some of which tie directly in front with long streamers. It is truly a season of fluttering bow fastenings and versatile tie treatments.

Style Notes

Copper is stressed in new metal effects.

Lumber-jacket suit is the big news for fall.

New styles feature quaint high Victorian sleeves.

Velveteen princess frocks are selling to the teen-age.

Hoopskirt petticoats are worn with full-skirted party frocks.

With soft tailored tweeds wear wood jewelry and wood buttons.

Costume jewelry accents leaf theme and huge dangling gadgets.

Angora knit "cuddly" sweaters also boleros come with matching angora hats.

Violets are pinned to suit lapels to accent importance of violet color schemes.

'TOPS' WITH RIFLE

Edward V. Seeser of Lynn, Mass., platoon sergeant in the marine corps, was "tops" in the national rifle matches at Camp Perry, Ohio. He made a score of 146 out of 150 to outshoot 1,971 civilian and military competitors.

TO SHOW CHINESE ART

A priceless collection of art gathered from old China is the exhibit planned by Mrs. Thaddeus C. White, wife of an American engineer, in the Princess Der Ling pavilion replica of a Forbidden City summer house, in the 1933 Golden Gate exposition in San Francisco. Mrs. White is known to the world as Princess Der Ling, author and lecturer.

Hints for Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

FALL and winter holidays are just around the corner. That means guests for dinner, children home from school, parties for them and in general, open house.

You will no doubt redecorate your home with fresh curtains and draperies, but we'd suggest you begin this process from the bottom and start with fresh cloth window shades.

Harmonize your window shades with the gaiety of the holiday season; get that rich warm tone called chrysanthemum yellow, or sunrise; both brighten your rooms and actually seem to bring the sunshine indoors on dull days, for both these colors reflect light.

If you want to keep your home snug and warm hang two cloth window shades at every window, for two shades conserve as much as 43% possible heat loss. It is well to select a decorative color for the inside rooms, such as larkspur blue, springgreen, chrysanthemum yellow and sunrise. Then choose conservative white or ecru for the shades next to the glass and thus present a uniform appearance to the street. The whole effect is of course very spic and span.

Weavers Use Mirrors

Tapestry weavers are obliged to watch the progress of their work in mirrors, as a tapestry has to be woven from the back, declares Collier's Weekly. The weaver checks his work in a mirror facing the front of the fabric.

Observe the Horn Dance
A horn dance is a medieval dance celebrated during the wakes at Abbotts Bromley, a village on the borders of Needwood forest, Staffordshire. Men, each wearing a deer's skull with antlers, dance through the streets, pursued by a comrade who bestrides a mimic horse, and whips the dancers to keep them on the move.

Staple of Brazil
Mandoca is a staple of the United States of Brazil. It is also called manioc and cassava. The dried roots of the cassava tree are picked after one year's growth and dried for making into manioc flour. From this the natives make their bread. This root is the source of tapioca.

Once Naval Pride Now War Museum

Old Battleship Oregon Had Epic Part in 1898.

PORLAND, ORE.—The old battleship Oregon, bulldog of the United States navy 40 years ago, has been given a permanent berth here and turned into a war museum.

The ship has been a favorite ever since it made a sensational cruise around Cape Horn in 1898. It steamed from Puget sound to Cuban waters where it joined the United States fleet and helped destroy the Spanish armada at Santiago. The forced run of about 17,000 miles was made in 84 days, including several stops. Its top speed was 14½ knots. Never before had a huge steel battleship been driven so great a distance at such speed. Seventy million Americans avidly watched through newspapers the great war craft's spectacular race against time. The patriotic American still is thrilled by the Oregon's heroic part in the sea victory off Santiago.

The former pride of the navy now is a relic and small compared with the superdreadnaughts of today. Her displacement of 10,288 tons and length of 348 feet are far overshadowed by the modern Colorado's 32,500 tons and 600 feet. While the Oregon had four 13 inch guns, the Colorado has eight 16 inch guns and a top speed of 21 knots.

The old ship was doomed by the navy to the scrap heap. The Oregon legislature appropriated money to buy it and it was turned over to the state in 1925. The craft was towed to an out-of-the-way spot under a bridge in Portland harbor where it rested almost unnoticed until recently when funds were raised by school children and others to move the old fighter. Recently it was towed to a memorial park a mile up the Wilmette river.

Drop Diet Fads, Back to Days of Hearty Eating

CHICAGO.—Americans have definitely abandoned the diet craze of recent years and are on the way back to the "horse and buggy" days of hearty eating, with the average male consuming nearly 10 times his weight annually and the average woman eating slightly more than nine times her weight every year.

This information is shown by a national cross-section survey of urban eating habits made by the John R. Thompson company, national restaurant system, covering in excess of 50,000,000 meals served in 125 restaurants in leading cities of 20 states and the District of Columbia.

Meat, bread and potatoes—the great trinity of American dining—have suffered comparatively little as a result of the diet faddists' teachings, it is shown. Meat consumption, which fell off last year due to a shortage and higher prices following the drouth of 1936, is now on the upgrade again.

That dieting now exercised little influence on the average person is further emphasized by a materially increased consumption of pie, cake, pudding, ice cream, and other rich desserts, the data disclose. Fruits, vegetables and dairy products have won a generous place in the American menu, but meat, bread and potatoes are still firmly fixed on the throne, the figures demonstrate.

A breakdown of food consumption by pounds shows that the average male adult—figuring him at 150 pounds—eats four pounds of food per day and the average woman—figuring her at 120 pounds—consumes three pounds daily.

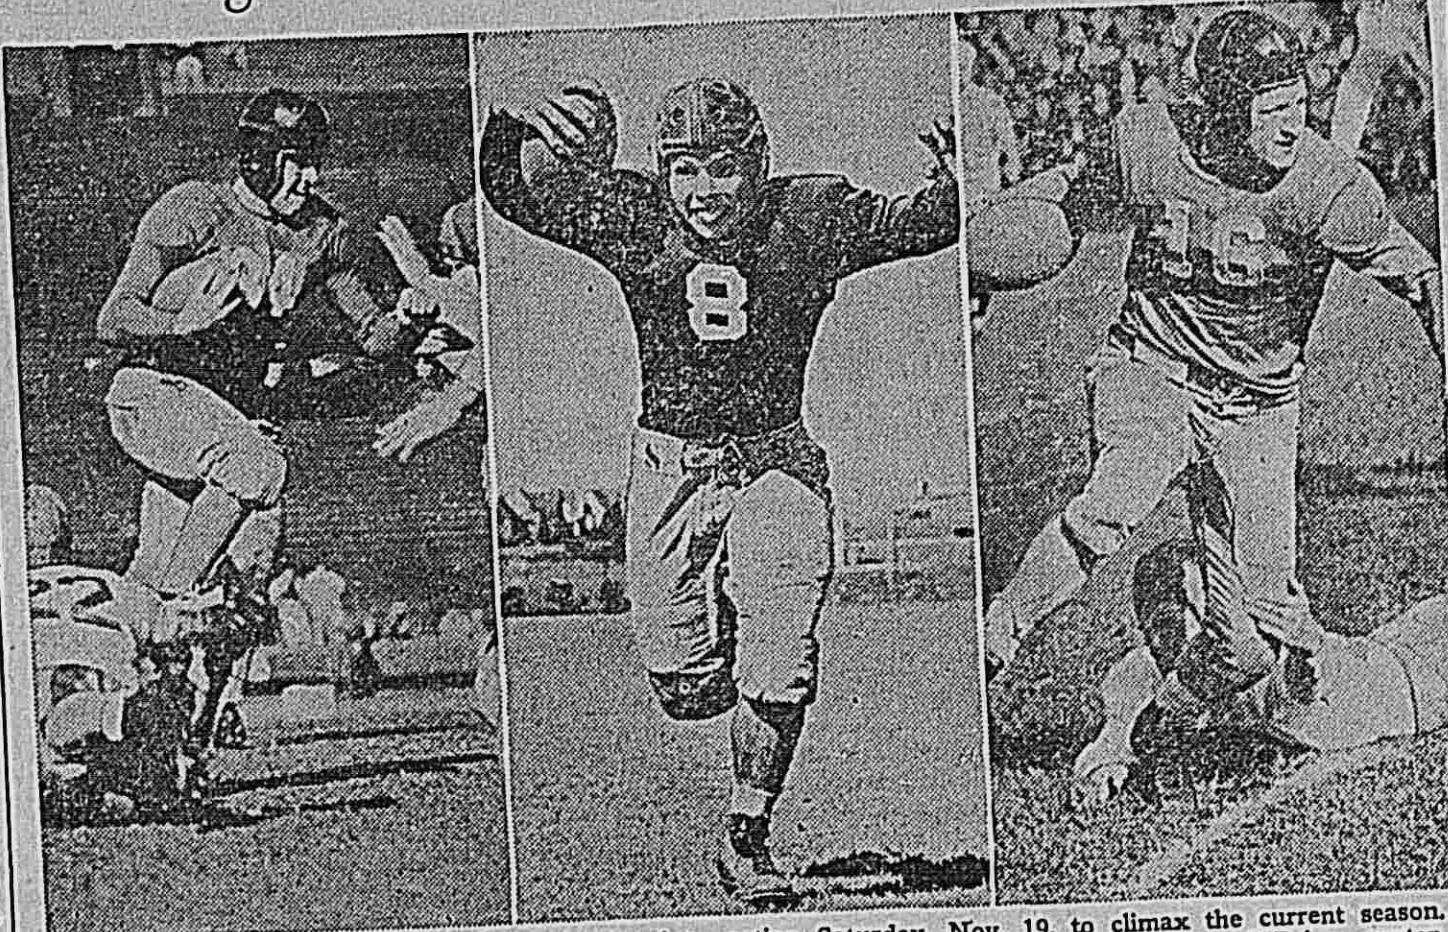

Skunks Become Pets of WPA Workers in Nevada

RENO, NEV.—Skunks at the Lehman Caves National monument, Nevada, recently moved in with a WPA crew billeted in a bunkhouse, much to the consternation of the original tenants. After a preliminary barrage, however, the new occupants settled down and behaved themselves so well that they were no longer objectionable.

Except for their extreme inquisitiveness, the little mammals do not conduct themselves much differently from domestic cats, according to the WPA crew. But their curiosity is inordinate. The cook complained that one or more kept him under surveillance every moment while he was on the job. Another man, who occupied a small cabin, reported that the skunk that shared it with him had a regular peephole in the wall, through which it watched him every moment.

ANNOUNCE WINNERS IN HOME BUILDING AND MODERNIZATION

Public Service Co. Makes Awards in Better Homes Contest

The eight winners in the northern division section of the $4,800 home building and modernization contest sponsored by the Public Service of Northern Illinois were announced today by J. W. Kehoe, division manager of the company.

Those winning $200 each in the competition which began last March were: V. H. Moon, 720 Forest ave., Highland Park; Dr. Dwight Bancroft, 335 Oakdale ave., Lake Forest; Victor Tonneson, 2190 S. Sheridan Rd., Highland Park; J. J. Hansen, 7507 Lowell ave., Niles Center; L. Lederer, Clarendon Dr., Prospect Heights; John H. Davies, 826 Chestnut ave., Wilmette; H. E. Scarborough, 2239 Lincolnwood Dr., and V. E. Franzen, 2418 Thayer St., Evanston.

Home Is Primary Interest
"Response from home owners in the form of entries," according to Mr. Kehoe, "was very gratifying and indicates that one of the primary interests of the individual continues to be his home."

"The purpose of this building and modernization activity was to focus public attention on sound, basic requirements of today's better homes. It was aimed to encourage an increasing adherence to honest building specification which reacts to the benefit of both the home owner and the building industry.

"In this contest we have emphasized ten specifications in modern homes: good location and architecture; sound construction and skilled labor; quality materials and equipment; landscaping and interior decoration; sound financing; new materials; plumbing and sanitation; heating and air-conditioning; insulation and sound-deadening; electric and gas services."

200 Home Owners Compete

Judges in this better homes contest were selected by the Evanston-North Shore Real Estate Board; Illinois Bankers Association and the American Institute of Architects; a contest board was named for each of three sections. Those serving here were W. G. Ruggles, realtor, Evanston; J. M. Appel, president, First National Bank, Highland Park; and W. D. Sorgatz, FHA architectural inspector, Evanston.

In all, nearly 200 homes were entered in the Public Service Company contest with eight winners being named in each of the three divisions. Awards were based on best utilization of the ten specifications in each home, regardless of its size or cost.

Insects Threaten Attack on Corn Stored in Cribs

Warm fall weather that has been ideal for the survival and spread of insects, makes it doubly important that southern Illinois farmers maintain careful watch over corn stored in cribs, according to W. P. Flint, chief entomologist, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Some of the insects that attack stored grains have been taking advantage of the past two mild winters to survive outdoors and have become more numerous in the fields than is usually the case, he explained. This is particularly true of weevils and moths that attack corn.

A survey made early in October found rice weevil and Angoumois grain moths to be present in about 20 per cent of the fields in the southern third of the state. With another mild winter or late fall, this infestation is bound to start building up in cribs where infested corn is stored.

Dry corn stored in a dry crib well built and well ventilated is not so likely to be damaged by insects. Such storage also meets requirements of corn to be given for a corn loan under the AAA farm program.

It will pay farmers to watch stored corn to see if insect infestation is developing, Flint said. Usually the insects eat holes in the ends and along the sides of the kernels. If a crib of corn becomes infested, it may be fed or sold. Since it is difficult to fumigate corn in an open crib, infested corn may be shelled and then fumigated in a tight bin, it is explained.

Storage requirements of corn to be given as security for an AAA corn loan are contained in a circular, "Corn Storage in the Ever-Normal Granary," which may be obtained from offices of county agricultural conservation committees or by writing the College of Agriculture at Urbana.
